Robbers Break In W.H. James' Hardware

Last Friday night burglars broke into W.H. James' Hardware Store and stole the safe, the safe about $300 in cash and carried off some very valuable papers. The thieves entered by removing a pane of glass in a rear window, which had been put in temporarily with tasks when in. The safe was broken and carefully removed and left on the window sill and the full pane of glass laid carefully away without breaking it. It is evident when ever committed the robbery were well acquainted with the store and had planned it with care. The police would have been able to find the combination if not for the fact that the safe was open, and finally he was obliged to leave the safe open for the night. In view of the robbery it is now quite evident that some had tampered with the safe and that the burglar with a view to the robbery.

The police are working on the case and it will not be surprising if they make some important arrests shortly.

Union Church Notes

Sunday School 11 a.m.

Begins with Sunday, July 31st, including the last Sunday in August. The evening service will be discontinued. The Sunday School will be held as usual. The minister and his family expect to spend the month of August at Gulf Lake.

Last Sunday morning Miss Callahan and Judge Alden, of Chautauqua, spoke to the school. Both addresses had the ring true and were inspiring to Sunday School scholars and workers alike.

In the evening Mr. Jas. Evans, Chautauqua superintendent delivered an address at a mass meeting in the big tent on "The New Nationalism". While not equal in strength, was not equal in the programme. Mr. Evans has read widely both history and current literature, he has also given deep and serious consideration to the problems of the world. The speaker was a man of action and made vast contribution to the world's progress and asserted that every people large or small had the right to a chance to make untrammeled its individual contribution to the advancement of the world. A Canadian, must not become provincial but rather think and act in terms of a whole nation, then a nation can exert a telling influence in world affairs. Each nation has its own place to fill and its own work to do but it is the duty of every nation to help other nations and peoples if it would reach its highest development and fulfill its loftiest purpose in the family of nations.

The young folks mission will meet this week on Wednesday evening at 7:30.

D. H. McKay and wife, left last week to spend their vacation at Mrs. MacKay's home in the United States where they will climb the Rocky Mountains and on their return will have some good fish stories to tell upon their return.

Next Tuesday, August 2nd, the Gleichen Orchestra is putting on one of their popular dances at the Hotel, and promise a good time to all.

Great Interest in Gleichen Fair

The next great event is the Gleichen District Agricultural Association's Twelfth Annual Exhibition on Thursday, August 11th, which gives promise of being one of the very best yet attempted, there being 133 members of the association pledged to do help bring this about. Besides all these members the ladies of the U.F.W.A. and the Women's Institute have taken charge of the Ladies' Department, which means that the ladies of the two organizations can be counted upon to interest every lady to know how to bring an exhibit—that spells SUCCESS for the Ladies Department.

By the way, to show the interest the ladies are now asking, Mrs. B. W. Brown and Mrs. M. Michael attended a meeting of the Executive last week and asked that a tent be erected for the use of mothers and their babies, which request was immediately granted, the ladies offering to take charge of it.

Posters announcing the entertainment for the day will be issued within a day or two. A progressive committee for the sports has been appointed and the members are aiming to have some very special attractions, with fun all day. Just what these attractions will be has delayed the going of the posters, but mills, brass bands, bagpipes and other things are whispered though expensive and hard to acquire. However, rest assured there will be something worth coming to hear and see. Already baseball matches, 11 kinds of athletic sports and a big parade are settled on, as well as a tug-o-war in which Gleichen challenges the world—the conquering Dunes (last time) being the first to enter. The prize offered by the Board of Trade for the best-decorated auto is attracting considerable attention and promises to have keen competition.

Formerly the fair has occupied two days, but this year it was decided to make one day only of it, as at this season of the year time is most valuable to the farmers therefore, all entries must be in the hands of See F. L. Ladley not later than 6 o'clock on Wednesday evening, August 10th, and all exhibits in place not later than 10 a.m. on the opening day, August 11th, judging will start at that hour to conclude before noon.

Already the ladies have secured judges from Calgary for their department and the Alberta Government is supplying judges for the fair for the cowherd class, for which an experienced rancher is to be secured.

The livestock promises to be particularly good this year as quite a number of our biggest and best meat animals have agreed to bring in extra weight and the market shows a very good market for live stock, but still not enough for any of the price.

This latter alone should attract a big crowd of interested in livestock.

It is fully expected the grain, grass, root and vegetable departments will excel anything attempted heretofore, as special efforts are made, the entire district being divided up to have a member in each section make a special entry. All those who cannot bring in their own exhibits can have them brought in by making the request the time they send in their entries to the secretary.

Cluny Notes

It so often happens that when a person is away from the community his neighbors work very hard, but when Sunday comes he is at a slight loss as to the day of week.

But when we have a provincial election and one of our settlers, who is well educated with getting numerous votes, is away, the neighbors work very hard and make extra obligations when their neighbors are hurrying away to cast their votes, there must be something wrong either with the man, or the power at Edmonton.

Everyone should be made acquainted with the election day, so that when a neighbor is away, the neighbors will be able to help him.

The Roman Catholic festival at Oodestuele Monday proved a most enjoyable and successful affair. A list of the prize winners is being prepared for next issue.

Western Canadian: "The opportunities have not been the best I know, especially for the man with some grit," says J. H. Brewer who came to Alberta in 1911 from Pittsburgh. Mr. Brewer had only five hundred dollars when he arrived in Canada. He is now farming four hundred acres in the Red Deer River valley, foot, Alberta, on which he has been able to pay $2,000 from the proceeds of his farming operations.

"My place is all fenced and cross-fenced," he says. "I have a full line of farm equipment, horses, cattle, etc., all paid for, so I think I can be well satisfied."

Saturday night lightning struck John Koed's barn and fire entirely consumed the structure and two miles as well as considerable horses and other articles. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

The next big event is the Fair, to be held on August 11th a clear date.

Chautauqua a Success Returning Next Year

This old world would be a monotonous one if we all thought alike. It's the variety of opinions that really makes life worth while. In Chautauqua we have many interesting speakers and we are always asking for their opinion of the various topics we can across a great variety of views and opinions, quite a number say they think that the best of them all, others say not so good as last year, but we are not satisfied, we know that those who are the most critical are those who have done the least to make Chautauqua a success.

Our own view is that we enjoyed some part of many entertainments this year, all of some interest and value, but we could not take the time to attend all. Comparisons are tedious and most difficult to judge fairly, especially after a year has gone by, but we feel certain that in no other way could we get so much value for $8 in entertainment. Some parts of the program were not worth the price alone. However, we do not consider it an expense judge on such matters and believe that some of the parts that did not appear to us as considered interesting interested others.

Our next meeting will have to go over the entire program, but we feel that special interest centered in Miss Coleman, who as was superintendent at Chautauqua two years ago, and made so many friends for the organization, and she is rather considered one of the best speakers and most popular.

"The Homing of the People," was not only very interesting and instructive, but her manner of delivering it was indeed a surprise and a delight for speaking, but an audience is not to be slighted.

Perhaps there is no better way of judging the opinion the people of Gleichen have of Chautauqua than by the statement that 103 of our citizens have signed, willing to take upon themselves the responsibility of giving a hand in the work of Chautauqua, which means they agree to pay $150.00. The conditions upon which they sign the year are somewhat different from last year, and it may be that when the committee meets there will be other changes to consider.
